THE KNESSET

05.22.13

Dear Mr. Mark Zuckerberg

With great honor I hereby invite you to come to the Israeli Knesset to take part in a comprehensive discussion.

The topic of this discussion is granting protection for the rights of citizens as a result of the huge development of the Facebook network.

A couple of days ago, I found out that an imposter opened a Facebook page under my name. It has been already a few days since I reported this to the website managers, however the page is still up and running.

I am not worried about my or other public figures` reputation. We will find the way to protect ourselves from imposters. But how does the average citizen defend himself from such impersonation that could harm him or his family?

The fact that it can take days from the time of reporting such a thing until the page is removed can possibly cause serious damage. As a company that is one of the founders of the biggest social media in the world, it would only be fitting and proper that its founder would take part in such an important and critical discussion.

In a couple of weeks I am going to hold a discussion on this topic in the Committee on Science and Technology in the Knesset and we will be honored if you agree to be our special guest in this discussion and in the Knesset in general.

Sincerely

M.K. Moshe Gafni

Member of the Israeli Knesset

Head of the Science and Technology Committee.
